

Middle Level Education Research Roundtable: Connecting Theory with Practice

Association for Middle Level Education Annual Conference

Nashville, Tennessee

November 7-9, 2019

Call for Proposals

The Middle Level Education Research (MLER) Special Interest Group of the American Educational Research Association is extending a Call for Proposals to participate in a research roundtable session at the 2019 AMLE annual conference. Both novice and experienced researchers are invited to submit proposals to present their research and engage in dialogue with other middle level researchers in attendance.

PROPOSAL SUBMISSION GUIDELINES

To be considered for participation in the Middle Level Education Research Roundtable, submit the following items for review:

- Cover Page that includes the following:
  - Title of research/paper
  - Name, position, organization/institution affiliation, mailing address, phone number, and email address for all researchers with the lead researcher designated.
- Abstract of the research/paper no longer than 300 words that includes a description of the study and the significance of the study to middle level education research. The abstract should not contain identifying information for any of the researchers involved in the project.

Submit the Cover Page and Abstract as two separate email attachments to:

Dr. Shawn A. Faulkner
Northern Kentucky University
faulkners1@nku.edu

All submissions will be blind reviewed by officers of the Middle Level Education Research SIG. Preference will be given to proposals that address one or more of the areas of focus in the MLER SIG Research Agenda. If selected to participate in the roundtable session, at least one researcher listed on the proposal must agree to register for and attend the AMLE conference and present the research at the appointed time. Researchers must prepare a one-page research summary to distribute to those attending the session. A full research paper is not required.

Deadline for proposal submissions: March 15, 2019

Notification of acceptance: before May 1, 2019
